Well, only seven noble soles attended this Hash in Kızılağaç. The weather was kind even though the RA had forsaken us. With a quick check to see if Captain Crease was on his way (he wasn't), Culture Vulture called the opening circle only 5 minutes after 2 o'clock. He duly awarded the Beer Master, Three Lira, with the Hashit for deserting us for his new love in the north of the UK. Long may his balls freeze in Scotland. CV then duly delivered some RA without fault even though he had about 5 minutes notice that the RA was not going to be there (guess who may get the Hashit next run??). After a brief introduction by the Hare, Lightfoot, and a quick DOWN-DOWN for first home last run (Culture Vulture yet again – surely he should be getting some DOWN-DOWN for competitive Hashing!), CV called ON-ON.

Well it was ON-ON, and then ON-UP, and ON-UP, and ON-UP, and ON-UP.....Several Hashers, commencing with Shitter, managed to fall flat on their faces. Well it was a bit loose underfoot. At the top of the last long climb, Culture Vulture and Three Lira decided to hold the check for a bit for the others to catch up. Then CV called ON-ON and duly checked out the wrong way as usual. As we have noted before, don't follow CV from a check, he nearly always gets it wrong (except for the last check of course, so he can get home first!!).

A fairly decent descent even though a little loose underfoot again, with the ON-IN being a little uphill and, according to Three Lira and Shitter, not so clearly marked. However, CV managed to find it easily, but then the hare was up there with him. Shame on the hare - hares should be at the back of the Hashers and not up at the front. Front runners need no help to find the trail and if they do then the hare can help them when he arrives at the check with the backmarkers!!

The last two in – Virgin and Kath – arrived not very long after the rest of the pack which indicates a well marked trail. CV therefore called the circle pretty quickly. With only seven Hashers, the circle was fairly short. DOWN-DOWN for the hare first, then for the Hashit. Other DOWN-DOWNS followed for impersonating Bo Derek (arse over tit), no Hash Tee Shirts, CV for not doffing his hat for the first DOWN-DOWN, Virgin for still managing to credit one more run than the official Bodrum Hash Total (she was at run zero and all others since). No-one was left out.

CV was then trying to raise hares for Sunday 22 November, but three of those present won't be around, one had set the run today, two would be setting the first run in December, and the other present was a Virgin Hasher. Any takers for the run on 22 November? CV and Virgin will be in UK so we can't do it.

We also need a replacement Beer Master – any takers?

The ON-ON-ON was at the Et Mangal in Kızılağaç. Shitter managed to sit well down wind of the BBQ and complained about it all afternoon!! Actually, a good time was had by all.
